

Raven Hill Discovery Center is a 501(c)(3) tax-exempt corporation.

Mission: Raven Hill provides a place that enhances hands-on and lifelong learning for all ages by connecting science, history & the arts.

To: friends and family everywhere
From: Cheri and Raven Hill
Date: August 8, 2020
Re: Update

Greetings to one and all!

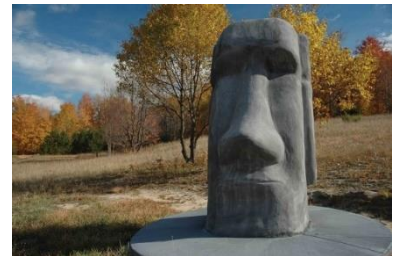

As you probably know, Raven Hill’s mission is to provide a place that enhances hands-on and lifelong learning for all ages by connecting science, history & the arts. What is your “connection” to the Center? Enjoy this little picture survey with some of my favorites!

Do you enjoy the science of spiders and their annual molting of their old skin?

Do you prefer history—geologic or more recent?

Are you into the arts?

Do you like the thought of sharing your orange with a butterfly?

Or would you rather enjoy the waterlilies at the pond?

One visitor came with his family. He got as far as the entryway and said, “you don’t have anything here that would interest me!” I asked him what he was interested in. He was a fisherman. He spent the rest of the visit examining two shadowboxes full of old lures and perusing a book called MADE IN MICHIGAN FISHING LURES II, which highlights all the little towns in Michigan and the fishing lures crafted of wood, metal and even leather.

Whatever your Raven Hill favorites are, there is almost always some kind of science, history and art connection! Take Skittles for example. The game was played by German monks as far back as the 4th century. The Mountain School of Crafts in Berea, Kentucky constructs and sells the games today. And the spinning top illustrates the scientific principle of gyroscopic precession!

No matter where your interests lie, Raven Hill has something to offer you! Raven Hill is truly its mission “in action”!

I hope everyone is staying safe. The three “W’s” are still critical: Wear a mask, Wash your hands and Watch your distance. Keep in touch with family and friends. Check on them often. Call us here at (231.675.6025) or better yet, email cheri@miravenhill.org and share what “connects” you to Raven Hill.

Take care,

Cheri